ASK EXPLANATION OF CLERK'S ARREST BY GERMAN POLICE

U. S. Protests, Demands Full Report of Action In Embassy Case

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The United States today awaited an explanation from the German government of the arrest of an American clerk in the embassy at Berlin—the latest in a growing list of trouble-provoking incidents accompanying a steady deterioration in German-American relations.

Secretary Hull ordered representations made to the German foreign office after dispatching Stewart Herman, an embassy employee, had been detained apparently without prior notification or explanation to the embassy.

Although Herman was released after several hours questioning, officials here were understood to consider his arrest a breach of the diplomatic courtesy existing between officially friendly nations.

When Herman and six other Americans—all since released—were arrested the German police admitted their action might have some connection with reprisals for the coast guard's seizure of two merchant ships in United States ports after discovery of a widespread sabotage plot.

There is no doubt in informed quarters that Germany's antagonism stems primarily from American aid to Britain and encouragement of other threatened nations to resist Nazi aggression.

American seizure of German ships, detention of Nazi crews on immigration and sabotage charges, and Secretary Hull's flat rejection of German protests together with the cumulative effect of numerous preceding incidents—have further embittered Nazi feelings.

However, diplomatic circles here express doubt that Germany plans any very drastic action in the immediate future.

FDR Says Something Must Be Done at Allis-Chalmers Plant

(By Associated Press)
Ford motor company assembly lines over America stood idle today as a result of a strike at the firm's River Rouge plant near Detroit. At least 118,000 men were affected by the shutdowns.

Another 250,000 workmen in the steel industry faced the threat of workless days beginning at midnight Tuesday unless a deadlock is broken in negotiations between the United States Steel corporation and its CIO employees over a new wage contract.

Still another 400,000 soft coal miners were out of production while negotiations continued toward a new labor contract. However, Dr. John R. Steelman, federal conciliator, predicted that some of the mines would re-open next week.

"Bad Situation"
As these hundreds of thousands, engaged in industries holding billions in defense contracts, drew further public attention to the labor situation, President Roosevelt termed the strike at the plant of the Allis-Chalmers manufacturing company a bad situation and said something has got to be done about it.

Representatives of the company and striking CIO United Automobile Workers' union met in Washington today for a conference with the defense mediation board, seeking to settle the 74-day stoppage. Issues include a union shop, wage rates and seniority adjustments.

The Ford strike hinges on demands of the CIO United Automobile Workers for a contract recognizing it as collective bargaining agent and covering wages and seniority and grievance procedure. Strikebound for three days, the big River Rouge plant stopped feeding parts to the widely scattered assembly plants. They closed.

TWELVE DRAFTTEES PASS ARMY TESTS

There were no rejections among the 12 draftees whom the Salem draft board sent to the army last Tuesday, Clerk G. M. Griffith announced today. It marked the second time that a local contingent passed final medical exams 100 per cent.

The local board has received no new draft calls, although it was disclosed at Columbus that at least 14,000 men must be inducted within the next two and a half months to meet the state selective service quota of 52,496 by June 30.

Draft officials estimated that by April 15 the 11 calls issued will have produced 30,000 men, leaving between 14,000 and 20,000 to be inducted, depending on the number of Ohioans enlisting since the training program began.

SAXONS DISCUSS PLANS FOR RALLY

This dramatic picture, made from a plane over San Jose, Costa Rica, shows the Italian motor liner, Fella, burning fiercely after being set afire soon after the U. S. announced the seizure of 69 Axis vessels in U. S. ports. Seamen and officers of the vessel were jailed on arson charges. Italy and Germany made strong protests on the seizure of the vessels.

Apple Institute May Come To City Businessmen Told

Salem is practically assured of having the state apple institute this year, Salem Business bureau members were advised at their luncheon meeting Friday at the Lape hotel.

Reporting for the committee in charge, Ora Anderson said the final decision would be reached in two weeks. The Columbiana and Mahoning County Horticultural societies are working hard to bring the institute to Salem next fall.

At this meeting of the bureau, members of the retail division listened to suggestions on how to promote business as presented by Frank B. Pauly of Columbus, field representative of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants. In his talk, Pauly took occasion to commend the work of State Representative John M. Kerr of Columbiana county during his first term in the state legislature.

"Make Good Music-Familiar Music"-1941 Program Theme

Plans to make this year's observance of National Music Week in Salem the most significant in the history of the annual event are being made by the local committee, headed by Mrs. E. E. Dyball, and including students, musicians and interested persons, for the week of May 4-11.

The continuing slogan of the observance, used each year, is "Feature American Music," especially appropriate at this time, and the keynote is "Make Good Music Familiar Music—in 1941".

The Salem Music Study club, the Musical Arts club, senior music groups, and the two junior organizations for students, the Junior Music Study club and the Musical Culture club, together with other groups in the city are completing arrangements for varied and interesting programs throughout the week, both for the public and for the schools.

C. M. Tremaine is secretary of the national observance. President Roosevelt is chairman of the honorary committee, composed of governors of every state. The active committee is headed by David Sarnoff, and James G. Blaine, Jr. is treasurer.

JAYCEES PUSHING "CLEANUP" PLANS, SEEK PUBLIC AID

April 21 to May, 1 Dates: Service Department To Cooperate

The cooperation of various Salem organizations and the public in general will be sought to make a "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up" campaign in Salem April 21 to May 1 a big success.

A similar campaign was held in the city two years ago.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the support of the Salem Business bureau and the Salem Manufacturers' association, will sponsor the campaign. The dates for the 10-day drive were approved today by Mayor Norman Phillips, who announced that service department workers, during that time, would canvass the city to pick up boxes of junk and refuse discarded by house-cleaning residents.

Weather permitting, street curbs will be cleaned and painted during the campaign, Police Chief Ralph Stoffer said.

Edgar Mathias is chairman of the campaign for the Junior Chamber. Others on the committee are: Atty. Alfred Fitch, Lionel Smith, William Bodendorfer and Ray Dean.

McCulloch Heads 1941 Chest Drive Opening On May 6

R. S. McCulloch, as general chairman, will be in charge of the annual Community Chest campaign which will open Tuesday evening, May 6 and close Thursday evening, May 8.

McCulloch, appointed executive committee chairman at the close of the 1940 campaign, was appointed general chairman recently by trustees of the Salem Welfare association to succeed W. F. Bolen, who resigned.

Walter F. Deming has been named assistant chairman and will be in charge of the teams. McCulloch will direct the work of the executive committee.

The board of trustees will meet Monday noon at the Lape Hotel to consider this year's budget, requests from participating institutions having been received a few days ago.

E. S. Dawson is president and James H. Wilson is secretary of the welfare association.

ZIMBALIST SCORES IN LOCAL CONCERT

The perfection of technique and brilliance of performance which have established Efrem Zimbalist as one of the world's violin masters were admirably demonstrated by the famous artist in his concert at the Salem High school auditorium Friday night.

An appreciative audience heard the violinist, noted also as composer and conductor, Vladimir Sokoloff was at the piano.

Zimbalist's concert, the final presentation of this season by the Northern Columbiana County Concert association, included: "Chaconne" (Vitali); "Concerto in D Minor," adagio ma non troppo, recitativo, allegro moderato and finale, allegro molto (Bruch); "Poeme" (Chausson); "Sarasatena" (Zimbalist) a suite of Spanish dances.

Verdict In Salem Case

A jury in common pleas court in Lisbon Friday deliberated one hour and 30 minutes in returning a verdict in favor of Clarence F. Ward of Salem, defendant in an action filed by Jane S. Marton of Salem in which $850 was demanded as the result of an automobile-truck collision two miles south of Salem on Route 9 last May 2.

The trial, which opened before Judge Joel H. Sharp on Thursday morning, lasted a day and a half.

Ravenna Campers Get Cleanup Writ

(By Associated Press)
RAVENNA, April 5.—The unkempt boomtown camp that has mushroomed outside the gates of the $19,000,000 Ravenna shell loading plant must scrub up, state and Portage county authorities declared today.

The Ohio department of industrial relations dispatched two inspectors to the tar-paper shack settlement housing 600 men rushing construction of the government's big ammunition plant.

"Aware" of conditions in the mud-swamp camp, State Health Director R. H. Markwith has sent two sanitary engineers also to work with county health authorities in cleaning up the site.

While the county health board ordered hazardous accumulations of rubbish and garbage removed, Sheriff Robert Fitzgerald strove to keep vice and gambling under control in the camp.

"I'm going to continue to try to keep those men within the boundaries of the camp when they are off the job," said Fitzgerald. "I don't want them running around my county. On Friday nights when the men get paid, I go out there with a deputy and spend the evening, keeping them under control."

Fitzgerald has only three deputies, however, and reported it difficult to keep out prostitutes visiting the camp from Cleveland, Youngstown and Akron by automobile.

Dr. P. L. Harris, county health commissioner, declared "It is impossible to even sink a septic tank because the camp has been built on a swamp."

"We have been trying to regulate sanitation and we are making some headway," he added. "But it is a tough job."

Located a quarter-mile from the 20,000-acre ordnance plant site, the camp is without sewage, drainage or sanitary facilities of any kind.

TRAFFIC DRIVE IS OPENED BY POLICE

Cleveland Man Is Initial Defendant In War On Violations

Police, acting upon orders of Safety Director J. T. Rafferty, today launched a campaign to curb traffic violations.

The officers were urged to "keep your eyes open" and bring the offenders into court.

The first defendant today was Joseph L. Fisher of Cleveland, who was arrested by Patrolman James Hassey when he ran the wheels of his machine onto the sidewalk while attempting to make a U-turn in front of city hall.

Charged with operating a car upon the public sidewalks so as to endanger pedestrians, Fisher was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Norman Phillips.

The police, the safety director said, will be on the alert for motorists "crashing" traffic lights as well as those parking overtime in the business district.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CONFIRMATION

Confirmation services will be held at 11 a. m. Sunday at Holy Trinity English Lutheran church.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev. G. D. Keister, is based on the text, St. Luke 22:31, "The Appealing Savior."

The confirmation class will receive their first Holy Communion on April 13, Easter Sunday.

Advocates Birth Clinics

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 5.—Declaring that social problems hinge upon sexual relations and the fact "may as well be recognized," the Rev. L. W. Alms of Cincinnati told 250 welfare workers from Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia last night that "instead of spending time distributing Christmas baskets, social agencies might devote their attention to means of reducing the need for those baskets." He advocated establishment of birth clinics.

Hungarian - Yugoslav Border Seen As Likely Explosion Point

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 5.—Yugoslav relations with Germany ebbed swiftly today and the Balkan kingdom appeared on the verge of war.

Government circles declared gravely that the "zero hour" had arrived and a neutral diplomat with close government connections asserted "the diplomatic stage has ended," with the "new stage" just a matter of days or hours away.

Berlin Echoes Words
(Authorized foreign office sources in Berlin, echoing these ominous words, said that for all practical purposes German-Yugoslav diplomatic relations have ceased to exist.)

Yugoslavia's frontier with Germany and Italy and Nazi-dominated Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania were closed.

(The Hungarian official news agency said in Budapest that Yugoslavia had suspended all Danube river traffic in the section fronting Yugoslav territory.)

An extraordinary session of Premier General Dusan Simovic's cabinet ended in the early morning hours and a semi-official source said that "The critical connections with Bulgaria and Rumania were severed. It was difficult to get calls through to Germany and Italy and only diplomatic calls were accepted for Hungary."

Squadrons of Yugoslav fighter planes roared over Belgrade shortly after noon and headed toward the Hungarian border, where Adolf Hitler is reported to have massed huge Nazi forces.

FUNDS PROMISED FOR WPA PROGRAM

Salem and County Jobs Will Continue, Burton Tells Commissioners

A continuation of Salem's WPA projects for the new federal year, commencing July 1, was insured today when U. S. Senator Harold Burton notified county commissioners of a $654,640 appropriation to carry on the county-wide WPA project, under which the Salem jobs are operated.

The appropriation, given presidential approval, is for the new year beginning July 1, Burton's telegram explained.

At present, Salem's South Broadway storm water sewer improvement is operating as a part of the county blanket project.

East Liverpool, which has a WPA setup of its own, is the only Columbiana county municipality not governed by the county blanket project, for which the commissioners act as co-sponsors.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AGAIN

A congressman from Michigan obtained the floor last Wednesday to say that one word from President Roosevelt could end every strike in the United States in five minutes. By doing in person what the media board is supposed to do by proxy—namely, by saying that it is the sense of his administration that strikes are against public policy at this time—Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly could come pretty close to stopping strikes in their tracks. It makes one think about how much could have been accomplished several years back if someone authorized to speak for the Roosevelt administration had said that sitdown strikes did not have government sanction—but from Washington there was nothing but overwhelming silence, days, weeks and months of it.

BALKAN FLASH POINTS

When statesmen work on Balkan problems they never forget what can happen to men who handle high explosives. One minute everything is lovely, the next minute there's a hole in the ground, with a wisp of smoke rising out of it.

In order to reach the Greeks to punish them for not being considerate of the Italians, the Germans are going to have to fight the Yugoslavs, unless appearances are deceiving. That was Explosion No. 1. Explosion No. 2 seems to have occurred in Hungary. Paul Teleki, Hungarian premier, is officially revealed to be dead of his own hand—a martyr to pressure brought on him by Germany, which wants to take over Hungary for use as an air base to attack neighboring Yugoslavia. Hungary's foreign minister, Stephen Czakay, died in January, following an attack of what was described as poisoning.

Hungary is reported to be intensely excited over Teleki's death. Yugoslavia is excited. Turkey is excited. Greece has been so excited it beat the ears off the Italians. If one thing about the war was a safe bet, it was the probability that the instant belligerent pressure in the Balkans reached the danger point a lot of things would break loose at once.

OHIO'S SAFE FOR BOB WHITES

The eventuality that Ohio feels sure will arise sooner or later in this state happened in Wisconsin the other day. Feelings ran high in a strike, mobs formed, there was no adequate police power to fall back on. The Wisconsin state guard was training for the federal army.

Wisconsin's Gov. Heil immediately sent out a call for federal troops, perhaps knowing they wouldn't be forthcoming but sending out the call anyway. Wisconsin, like any state lacking adequate police power, has no recourse in an emergency but to fall back on the federal government, charged with responsibility for protecting each of the states "on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence." Incidentally, the Wisconsin legislature was in session when Gov. Heil made his request for federal troops.

In Michigan, the strike situation is being handled by state policemen. In Ohio, if strike disorders occurred, state policemen also would be responsible for restoring order. The bill creating a state guard has been sidetracked somewhere in the state house; and even if it were passed immediately it would take a long time to organize an effective force. In the meantime, it is doubtful if Ohio's state policemen are numerous enough to cope with the deliberately planned and carefully executed disorders that accompany most important strikes.

Never let it be said, though, that the legislature in this state has been idle. It has made Ohio safe for the Bob Whites, oh glory be!

IT ALL HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

Twenty-six years ago the Serbs were confronted with Germany's demand for the right of transport across their territory and refused to knuckle under.

Twenty-five years ago the British had completed preparations for an invasion from across the channel. Their cities were being systematically ruined and their populations terrorized by aerial bombs dropped from Count Zeppelin's frightening airships. Later, when the British had learned how to make the air over their island unhealthy for airships, the Germans had recourse to bombers, precursors of Herman Goering's Luftwaffe.

The United States, which Germany had hoped to isolate by gaining control of the seas, was being crowded into a belligerent attitude by fear of the consequences of German supremacy in the Atlantic. The legend of German arrogance was in full bloom, brought to that state not by propaganda, as many charged afterward, but by the actions of the Germans, themselves. They were the world's most respected fighters—and the most heartily hated.

Italy, having lined up with what it hoped would be the winning side, was performing dirty work in the Mediterranean area, sustaining heavy losses but diverting thousands of troops from the western front. It was being said that while the war wouldn't be won in the Balkans, that was where Germany probably would lose it. The United States was producing armaments with all its resources for use abroad, labor was feeling its oats, and Washington was nursing a headache over Mexican trouble.

Today, the diversion on the Pacific side happens to be Japanese trouble. Instead of Mexican, but in all important aspects World War II is nothing but World War I being repeated. For more than a quarter of a century Germany's plan to establish itself by force as the world's dominant power has been the major fact of political and economic affairs in the incident.

DAILY LENTEN PRAYER

By REV. JOHN BAUMAN

President, Ministerial Association

O God of love, impress upon us the guilt of betraying our Christ, and make us to realize the treachery and deceitfulness of our own heart, lest in our imagined security we fall into sin and turn traitor to Jesus. Help us to plumb the depths of Thy undying love for sinners by making us realize that Thy heavenly counsel willed Jesus should suffer betrayal and arrest, that the cross might become His altar of sacrifice for the world's redemption. Cause Thy love to shine in our hearts, that we may be incited to extend the Savior's gracious invitation to the lost of our community. Spread the day when justice shall be enthroned, and truth rule the hearts of men, for Jesus' sake, Amen.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, April 6

SUNDAY'S horoscope should hold testimony of some very exciting circumstances, possibly in relation to public, group or community enterprise, in which there may be definite friction, violence or some other unhappy occurrence. With proper restraints, rigid self-control and other measures for constructive and harmonious cooperation there might result satisfactory and practical gains. Be cautious with the tongue and pen.

Those whose birthday it is may have an exciting year with much stirring of an eventual and profitable nature providing there is not an attempt to force issues by reckless, passionate, intemperate and discordant measures. Personal restraints, composure and due deliberation of action would prove of benefit, particularly in matters concerning the public welfare.

A child born on this day should have much practical constructive ability with outstanding skill mechanically and much executive force. This may be offset by wayward tendencies, impetuosity, violence and detrimental lack of restraint.

For Monday, April 7

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of conflicting experiences and adverse conditions, but these are to be tempered by exceedingly pleasant and profitable events of a social, domestic, artistic or emotional character. Also there may be honors, favors or happy contacts with superiors and elders. It is a time for reaping through more productive and profitable opportunities.

Those whose birthday it is may be expected to experience a year of conflicting and fluctuating fortunes, with some definite gains, stability and as well, honors, favors, solid support of those in influential places. These should be due to merit, sound ambitions, high principles as well as through social prestige and an urge for public benefit and advancement. There should be much personal and domestic felicity and activity of a pleasant social nature.

A child born on this day should be stable, ambitious, talented and resourceful, and although it may have some reverses it should be happy and successful in life.

THE MAN WHO CHOSE A METAL DIET

Dr. Clendening Discusses Strange Case

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

We read in the paper every once in a while about somebody who has had a hairpin removed from the stomach. The reports make more impression on the laity than they do on the medical man. Every once in a while we are privileged to see a really startling example of what the stomach can do when it is put up against it.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I once was present at an operation on an elderly gentleman who had inadvertently swallowed his false teeth. The surgeon removed them without the slightest difficulty and the gentleman went on his way apparently entirely unharmed. I know he was alive five or six years later, and for all I know to the contrary, he may still be alive. However, he is much more careful with his false teeth than he was and he strenuously objects to that word "inadvertently."

One of the all-time highs in stomach testing occurred not long ago in Brattleboro, Vermont, where a man was found who had an extreme craving for a metallic diet. There were removed from his stomach 187 foreign bodies, which weighed 92 grams. His favorite food was hairpins, but he also was very fond of open safety pins. There were pieces of a safety razor blade, several staples, piece of glass, and part of a hack-

saw. He stated to the surgeon before the operation that he covered many of the objects, such as razor blades, with chewing gum or food but in spite of that at times his throat got sore.

These were all removed and he made a good recovery but he was plagued with acid indigestion and went back to his metallic diet, eating 440 pieces of glass, pins, needles, open safety pins, a bottle cap, a few fragments from a barbed wire fence, but he had lost his taste for razor blades. A few years later he did it again, swallowing a nail file, a few toothpaste tubes, while still sticking to glass, tacks, safety pins and hairpins. He recovered from all three operations.

The fear of robbery has often led to the swallowing of money or jewelry. Valiant, a celebrated doctor and antiquarian, was captured by Pirates off Tunis and swallowed all the money he had on his person.

Other records we have show a dog that swallowed his collar and chain. They were missed and a search made for them, which was unsuccessful. It was only when it was noticed that the dog was ill and refused food that a hint to the whereabouts of his machinery of thraldom was had.

Spoons, toothbrushes, handles of music boxes, swabs and rosaries have all been reported as having been swallowed.

Lenten Reducing Diet
Breakfast: A glass of fruit juice, or an orange, or half a grapefruit without added sugar, 1 slice of thin toast with only one-half pat of butter or a little jam, 1 cup of coffee, with a little milk and only 1 lump of sugar.

Ruth Mitchell

Ruth Mitchell, above, first foreign woman ever to join the revolutionary death-defying Comitati, a Yugoslavian death society which will harass the Germans when and if they cross the Yugoslavian frontiers, has identified herself as a sister of the late American flyer, General "Billy" Mitchell. Miss Mitchell, who was given a phial of poison (the Comitati boasts that no member ever is taken alive) when sworn into the society, is the former wife of an Englishman. The Serbian death group is composed of 38,000 members who do espionage work when war comes.

Rev. Bauman Will Speak At Emmanuel Lutheran Confirmation Service

Rev. John Bauman will speak on, "The Guide of Youth," at the confirmation service at the Emmanuel Lutheran church Sunday.

The text is written in Jeremiah 3, 4. Palm Sunday is the traditional day in Emmanuel for the reception of the children's class into church membership through solemn rite of confirmation. It is one of the most beautiful services in the church year. Boys and girls having been instructed in the truth about God and the Christian way of life, give expression of their faith in the Savior, and assume for themselves the promise made by the sponsors in baptism.

The Sunday school meets at 9 a. m. Lee Schaefer, superintendent.

Confirmation service at 10 a. m. No German service.

The Center of History

There have been important moments in human history, moments in the turn of which hinged the fate of nations, the weal and woe of untold millions, moments which cast the future into new molds and led the current of human events into hitherto uncharted channels. But the center of all human history, the one moment about which all time revolved, without which all the hours of human existence since the days of Eden would but mark the hopeless doom of man and for which all the occurrences and accomplishments of human history are but foil and background, is that fateful moment when from the bruised lips of the Son of God, crucified on Calvary, there issued the cry: "It is finished."

Here issues were settled that had not been fashioned by the mind and hand of man. In the voluntary death of the humble Nazarene on the cross God's counsel was being carried out, and this counsel affected not only the contemporaries of crucified one, but was retroactive in its saving effect and went back to the first man that ever lived and it went forward to the last man who would ever live on the face of the earth, and it wrought salvation for them all. Namelessly and endlessly important for all of us is the hour when Jesus died on the cross.

Announcements

Sunday Announcements

"Unreality," is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science society tomorrow.

The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WCLE (610 KIL) Cleveland, the first and third Sundays of each month at 9 a. m.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. The midweek service will be held the first Wednesday of each month at the church at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text is: "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy" (I Timothy 6:17).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord: Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord.... For he shall be like the heath in the desert, and shall not see when good cometh; but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land and not inhabited" (Jeremiah 17:5,6).

The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Finite sense has no true appreciation of infinite Principle, God, or of His infinite image or reflection, man. The mirage, which makes trees and cities seem to be where they are not, illustrates the illusion of material man, who cannot be the image of God" (p. 309).

This society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. The room is open from 1:30 to 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the services and visit the reading room.

CHRIST MISSION

Will begin its spring house-to-house canvass in Salem on Monday, April 7th. All friends of Christ Mission are asked to have their bags filled and other cast-off materials ready—so that the fifty crippled, blind and otherwise handicapped workers may be kept employed and also that the poor may be provided with the clothing, shoes and household goods that they need.

OLD MAN WINTER has interfered with the collection of goods lately and therefore the need is acute. The good people of Salem have always contributed generously—and are urged to do their best this time.

O. E. S. Will Meet

Salem chapter No. 334, Order of Eastern Star, will meet at the hall at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

A penny lunch will follow the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Smith of the Georgetown rd. have returned from Columbus where they attended the Farm Bureau convention from Wednesday to Friday.

Howard Alaback, who has been ill at the Central Clinic for the past four weeks, is slightly improved.

GRANGE RECEIVES TWO NEW MEMBERS

Two new members, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Beutley, were obligated in the third and fourth degrees and one application for membership was received when the Goshen grange met Friday evening.

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. C. S. French, for many years a member of the Goshen grange.

An announcement was made that the married men, who have charge of the social activities during April, May and June, are preparing for a social the latter part of April.

The Portage County Pomona grange will furnish the lecture hour program at the Smith grange hall Saturday evening, April 26. The Mahoning county project meeting slated to be held at Greenford grange has been postponed, and the Mahoning county young people will have no meeting in April.

The juveniles assisted in the lecture hour program Friday evening with the following numbers: recitations, Bruce and Marilyn Weinart; vocal duet, June and Mildred McClellan; drum solo, Sonny Gray; piano solo, Naomi Capel. Mrs. Homer Gray conducted a quiz contest, which was won by the men. Alfred H. Stratton gave a short highway safety talk.

Club, Trustees Exonerated

CIRCLEVILLE, April 5.—The Eagles club and three trustees—Mayor William Cady, Service Director Leonard Morgan, and Earl Radcliff—were exonerated as the Pickaway county grand jury ignored charges of exhibiting gaming devices in the clubrooms. The charges, filed March 25 in justice of the peace court, were brought by Bernard Noebel, whose brother-in-law was fined and jailed previously by Mayor Cady for destruction of property in the clubrooms.

Today's Pattern

DEMURE GIRDLE-WAISTED STYLE

Pattern 4730

You'll be the fairest lady of the Easter scene—and all through summer too—if you appear in this Anne Adams frock. For Pattern 4730 is full of feminine wiles, and looks particularly attractive in a flower-scattered silk or rayon print. The very soft, bust-enhancing bodice lines and the smooth hip-slimming skirt lines are both accentuated by a waistband that points up in front and makes your waist tiny. A nice effect is given by the curved front yokes which help shape the pretty neckline and keep the shoulders trim and smooth. You may choose between short and three-quarter sleeves, and you might add lace edging and tiny buttons. However you treat this frock, it will be belle of your wardrobe!

Pattern 4730 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 yard lace edging.

Forty-four million pounds of Swiss cheese is made annually in United States plants, census figures show—less than a pound and a half per family per year.

"The Appealing Saviour", Is Rev. Keister's Topic At Holy Trinity Church

Rev. George Keister's topic for the morning confirmation service at the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church Sunday is "The Appealing Saviour."

Announcements follow:

Sixth Sunday in Lent, or Palm Sunday.
Sunday school, 9:45 (St. Luke 13:28-40). Charles W. Youtz, superintendent.

Jesus had a triumphant day when he rode into Jerusalem on the Sunday before the first Easter day. He was praised by the voices of both children and older disciples. He came as a King, but was not to be long honored and praised, for the day of crucifixion was not many days away. This day of triumph was only a fore-glimp of the time when the Savior shall return again, to establish His Kingdom on earth. The praise was a small picture of the honor and glory that would come to Jesus as the centuries of time would pass. This Savior desires to ride in triumph into every heart and there dwell as ruler and king.

Morning worship, 11 a. m. Services of Confirmation.
There is no power on earth so strong as the pull and attraction of Christ and His Gospel. It has overcome powerful resistance. It has withstood the passing of many years and the changes of centuries. Christ has an appeal to every seeking heart. All that He desires is an opportunity.

The practice of the Lutheran church is to baptize children in infancy. Such baptized children are members of the church. But the Lord has commanded that those who have been baptized should be taught to observe all things whatsoever He has commanded. To comply with that command, baptized children are given a thorough course in instruction in the Holy Bible. On giving satisfactory evidence that they possess sufficient knowledge of God's Word and that they will live the Christian life, they are confirmed. Confirmation is not a sacrament nor is it commanded in the Scriptures. No new promises are made in confirmation. The catechumens now assume the promises made in baptism by their parents or sponsors.

Luther League, 6:30 p. m. Devotional topic, "Joining Church." Leader—Gertrude Wilms.
Holy Week services will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Good Friday evenings at 7:30.

Union Good Friday services for Salem churches will be held at the Methodist church from 1:30 to 3 p. m.

Missionary society has a special meeting Tuesday, April 15, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. C. K. Lippard, missionary from Japan, will be present. The public is invited.

Preaching services at the Washington Lutheran church Sunday evenings at 7:30. Holy Week services will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30.

Special Sermon Series Planned by Zion Parish

Rev. Abraham C. Duffie, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church, will deliver a series of special sermons beginning Sunday.

The Sunday services are: 11 a. m., "The Triumphal Entry"; 7:30 p. m., "None Shall Hold Their Peace." Sunday school at 9:45 a. m., Ray Clark, superintendent.

The senior choir will furnish the music, with Mrs. Emma Tibbs as organist and Miss Genevieve Clark as assistant.

Other subjects in the sermon series are:

Monday, 8 p. m.—"The Cursing of the Fig Tree."

Tuesday—"Christ's Authority Challenged."

Wednesday—"The Destruction of Jerusalem."

Thursday—"The Lord's Supper."

SENATOR PRESSES CAMPAIGN ON J.P.'S

Lipscher Proposes Tribunal With County-Wide Jurisdiction

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, April 5.—Senator Maurice W. Lipscher of Youngstown, nemesis of justices of the peace and constables, has launched a long-range program to exterminate them.

That's the objective, he said today, of a bill introduced to replace the Youngstown municipal court with a county tribunal having county-wide jurisdiction.

The measure would abolish the offices of J. P. and constable and transfer their duties to the county court and sheriff. Activities of mayors' courts also would be restricted.

Lipscher said he wanted to see the proposed new system tried out in Mahoning county as an example for the other counties.

"If it works—and I think it will," he said, "other counties should not hesitate to adopt the same system."

The Youngstown senator has been fighting the J. P.s and constables for several years. He has introduced numerous bills to curb their activities and two years ago proposed that only attorneys be eligible for the magistrate's office.

His campaign against operating "speed traps" by certain constables finally resulted in enactment of legislation requiring officers making traffic arrests to wear uniforms and paint their insignia conspicuously on their automobiles.

COLUMBIANA GETS NEW DIAL PHONES

The last community in the Akron district of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. without dial phones, the village of Columbiana, will have them at midnight today when the change-over is made by company officials, it was announced today by Carl F. Willman, commercial manager of the company.

A total of 791 Columbiana telephones are to be changed to the dial method of operation. After the cut-over, nearly 80 per cent of the telephones operated in the state by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will be of the dial type. The Ohio Bell has approximately 850,000 telephones. Of this number, 680,000 are dial-operated.

This figure, however, does not represent all of the dial telephones in Ohio. There are dial instruments in many Ohio towns operated by companies which are not owned by the Ohio Bell, and there are many thousands of them in the territory of the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone Co.

REPORT DECREASE IN APRIL RELIEF

LISBON, April 5.—April relief rolls show decrease of 23 cases and 68 persons in the county area, according to figures submitted by Relief Director John W. Orr to the county commissioners, who allocated $6,120. This represents a decrease of $272 under the preceding month's allocation for relief purposes, the decreases being attributed by Orr to investigations and return to private industry.

Representing the lowest relief load since the county area was established, Orr states there are now but 491 cases, or 1,530 people, on direct relief in the townships and villages of the county, for which allocations were made as follows:

Butler, $108; Center, $788; Elkrum, $212; Fairfield, $304; Franklin, $92; Hanover, $290; Knox, $40; Liverpool, $684; Madison, $638; Middletown, $356; Perry, $84; Salem, $344; St. Clair, $778; Unity, $416; Washington, $553; Wayne, $153; West, $196; and Yellow Creek, $192.

Other subjects in the sermon series are:

Monday, 8 p. m.—"The Cursing of the Fig Tree."

Tuesday—"Christ's Authority Challenged."

Wednesday—"The Destruction of Jerusalem."

Thursday—"The Lord's Supper."

Holy communion will be administered.

WOTAN'S WEDGE

by FRANCIS GERARD
A PRELUDE
TO BLITZKRIEG

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

Despite Sir John Meredith's assurance to the Scotland Yard man that he would be with Sir Hector at ten thirty, it was not until nearly noon that he reached his house in Pont Street.

Hailey and Bradford were once more waiting with Sir Hector, and Meredith lost no time in telling them that he considered it essential that he should go home.

"You're not going alone," said McAllister.

"I don't intend to," said Meredith. "This is not a one-man show."

He turned to Bradford and said, "Have you had any report about Beef yet?"

The inspector nodded gloomily. "Yes," he said. "It's not too good, I'm afraid, Meredith."

John felt a cold feeling at the pit of his stomach as he repeated steadily, "Not too good?"

"We're satisfied he hasn't come south even though his lorry has."

"I see," said Meredith. He was silent for a moment or two; then declared, "All the more reason for me to go north and the sooner the better. By the way, Hailey," he went on glancing at the Special Branch man, "your fellows have their instructions, I suppose, to move in at the word, go?"

"We've everything taped," the other man assured him.

At that moment Sir Hector's secretary came in and said, "There's a telephone call for Chief Inspector Hailey."

Sir Hector nodded his permission and Hailey picked up the receiver.

"Yes," he said, "who is it? What?"

"Are you sure of this? . . . You actually saw the ticket yourself?"

The big man replaced the telephone receiver and looked up at his three companions.

"Big news," he said quietly.

"That was one of my men reporting from Euston Station. Siegfried Kioffer has just caught the one-thirty train, he's booked a through ticket to Wick."

"I've also got a feeling," went on Meredith, "that we ought to get ahead of him."

"You'll never catch the midday train to Scotland by road," said Sir Hector, shaking his head. "You wouldn't stand a chance. There might be a hope by night because there would be less traffic, but by day . . ."

"I wasn't thinking of going by road," said Meredith.

"Well, it's a certainty you can't catch him by taking another train," Bradford pointed out.

Meredith swung round impatiently. "We've got an Air Force, haven't we?"

He spring to his feet and strode over to a huge map of the British Isles which hung behind Sir Hector's desk.

"Here we are," he said, placing his little finger below that Scottish headland just north of Wick. "Any plane where one could put an airplane down there?"

Sir Hector never bothered to answer. He picked up his telephone and said into it, "Get me the Air Ministry." A moment later, "I want Group Captain Harter. . . . Hello, Harter? Sir Hector McAllister here. Can you tell me if there's any place near Wick, up in Caithness, where you can land a plane," he made a rapid mental calculation and added, "by night?"

"Just hold on moment, Sir Hector. . . . Sorry but there's no landing place where you could do anything of the kind. Might manage it in daylight. Your only hope would be a sea-plane or a flying-boat if you want to get as far as Wick."

"A flying-boat," echoed McAllister. "Look here, Harter, Felixstowe is the nearest base, isn't it?"

"Well, will you ask Grant for me, if I may have the use of a flying-boat and also if it could be standing by ready to take off in about two hours?"

There was a few minute's silence on the telephone and then McAllister said into the mouthpiece, "Thanks a lot. He hung up and turned to where Sir John was studying the map. "All right, Meredith, it's arranged."

"Good," said John still busy with his map. "Hailey, can you arrange to get through to the chief constable of Caithness and have a posse of a dozen picked men, in plain clothes, assembled at Lybster by eight o'clock this evening?"

"Can do," nodded Hailey.

"They'd better be armed," said Meredith. "And another thing, can you arrange to have the const-guards at Lybster stand by with a launch to pick us up from the flying-boat? They'd better be around about the same time."

"Can do," nodded Hailey again.

"And can you also arrange for a car to meet us in Lybster. And sufficient cars to transport the assembled police?"

"Leave it all to me, Meredith. I'll see they don't let you down."

At four-thirty that afternoon Meredith and Sir Hector, followed by two Special Branch men, were in a big flyingboat skimming along the water, Meredith hardly realized when the great plane lifted into the air. Very soon the afternoon lights of Harwich had faded astern as the big flying-boat dipped her left wing slightly when banked round to be laid upon her course to the north.

As the one-thirty train pulled out of Euston Station, Igor Levinsky, alias Colonel Weimar, sank back in a third-class carriage compartment and regarded the man opposite him. It would have been impossible for anyone to recognize his vis-a-vis for the man's whole head and half his face were heavily bandaged. He was attired in an immense, loose coat, which completely hid the out-line of his figure. Colonel Weimar soon turned to stare out of the window.

Weimar's own appearance had undergone a considerable change. Anyone who had known him as Igor Levinsky would be hard put to recognize him in the clean-shaven, dark-spectacled individual muffled to the ears in a big coat, a thick, woolly scarf bulging above the collar.

Suddenly Weimar addressed his companion. "Even if he does look in, I think we're safe enough."

The other nodded dumbly. The bandage which went across his mouth and round his head prevented him from speaking. He delved into one capacious pocket of his coat and pulled out a newspaper narrowly folded in the Continental manner. He shook it out and began to read. Immediately Weimar snatched it from his hands, crumpled it into a ball and, lowering the window, threw it out on to the line.

"Dummkopf! Do you think he would not recognize a German paper when he saw one?"

The other's eyes between the bandages looked sullen as he relaxed into his corner.

Three carriages to the rear of them, Siegfried Kioffer sat in a corner of a first-class compartment. The eyes in the dead white face were closed but he was not sleeping. He felt, indeed, as though he would never sleep again. . . . he was tense as though bracing himself to meet sudden pain of which he had forewarning.

The monotonous roll and click of the wheels make a never-ending refrain: "Adel-heid, Adel-heid, Adel-heid," until that beloved name, going round and round in his brain, drove him to the point of madness.

"Adelheid!" he gasped like a man emerging after struggling long in deep waters.

Fortunately, Siegfried had the compartment to himself, for he was sitting upright glaring round him with an expression which might well have been taken for that of a lunatic had anyone witnessed it. He sank back once more against the cushioning and put his hands to his head gripping his throbbing temples.

Lou Nova Gains Eighth Round Technical Knockout Over Baer

Heavyweight Situation Is Unsettled; Conn Given T.K.O. Over Barlund

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 5.—Maxie Baer, at 32, finally is through as a top-ranking heavyweight, and Lou Nova stands out in bold relief as the man ready to fight Joe Louis for the championship. It will be quite a battle when they eventually get together.

Nova, using a wicked left as his principal weapon, stabbed Baer into a dead-tired, helpless technical knockout in the eighth round before more than 22,000 spectators who paid above $95,000 in Madison Square Garden last night.

Baer's Eyes Closed
Both Baer's eyes were puffed almost shut and he protested only momentarily when Referee Arthur Donovan pried them apart in 2:18 of the eighth round.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, stalling around the ring afterward, said he didn't know the score for sure. Nova might fight Louis almost any minute, he said, or again it might be Billy Conn to face the champion.

All of this might give some vague idea that the heavyweight situation is somewhat less settled. There is no question, however, about the licking Nova gave our gallant Maxie last night.

Baer, weighing 220 to Nova's 202½, grunted and cut up like his old self in the opening rounds. Several times he stood and invited Nova to come in and fight, and Nova invariably accommodated him.

Conn Beats Barlund
CHICAGO, April 5.—Eight heavyweights now have fallen before Irish Billy Conn, Pittsburgh's fancy boxer, but none of them belong in the same league with Slugger Joe Louis.

Under the present setup, however, Conn is scheduled to meet the heavyweight champion in June, either in Chicago or New York.

Conn's eighth victim last night was weak-hitting, plodding Gunnar Barlund. 28-year-old Finn, who scaled 194½ to outweigh Conn by 16½ pounds, Barlund was bleeding from a cut in his right eyelid when the fight was stopped at the start of the eighth round at the request of Paul Damski, the loser's manager.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Dr. Heber D. Curtis believes that rocket ships eventually will be developed for exploratory trips to the planets. Curtis is director of the University of Michigan astronomical observatories.

Ford Injunction

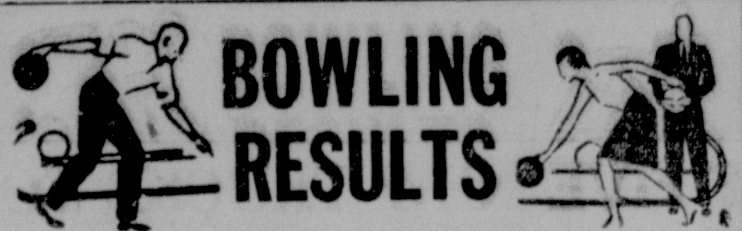

Judge Arthur J. Tuttle

Judge Arthur J. Tuttle of federal court in Detroit issued the temporary injunction against the C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers union barring them from "interfering" with Ford Motor company employees. At the same time, the union accused the company of breaking its word in a pact to keep the strike-bound River Rouge plant closed. In granting the order, Judge Tuttle ruled there was "a great emergency."

War Didn't Stop This Women's Race—In France

Neither war nor blitzkrieg can stop these women runners at St. Cloud, France. Before the war it was customary to have one cross-country race a year. The race is still held as pictured.

BOWLING RESULTS

The first-place Meissner's and the second-place Brownies pulled farther away from the field in the Federal league last night at the Masonic alleys as the leaders swept three from the K. of C. and the second-placers, who trail Meissner's by two games, trounced the third-place Sanitary foremen in all three tilts.

V. Malloy Jr. of Brownies racked up a 202 and a 207 in his first two games to finish with a 599 series. C. Todd of Brownies hit a 200 in the second. B. Curry had a 201 in his first and third games for the Sanitary.

The Sanitary Shippers went into fifth place, downing the Eagles two out of three, while the National Brass dropped three straight to the fourth-place O. E. Dodgers. Hempstead of the Brass was high individual game man last night with a 288 in his first try. J. Brantch rolled a 201 in his initial game for the Eagles.

Four deadlocks for positions resulted from the play in the Grate Ladies' league last night.

Endres-Gross and Kaufman's are tied for third place; the Trades Class and A. A. A. for fifth; the Church Budget and Damascus Lumber for seventh and the Salem Cab and Eagles for eleventh.

The league-leading Ford V-8's stretched their huge lead to 25 games as they trounced Polsky's three straight while the second-place Brownies dropped two to the A. A. A.

The Salem Cab took two from the Church Budget; the Eagles won three from the Trades Class; Kaufman's edged the Damascus Lumber two out of three; and Finney's took two from Endres-Gross.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 5.—(The Special News Service)—Scoop parade: Some major league people predict Judge Landis may retire before his term runs out and several magnates are criticizing the car without their customary caution.... Get ready for important changes in the sports writing business in this town.... If Buddy Baer bashes Tony Galletto in Washington next Tuesday he will be moved to the head of the waiting list for Joe Louis.... Joe Dimaggio's arm isn't any rifle this spring.

Race Fan's Viewpoint
Nova and Conn both win in eighth round.

Give the Password
Red Blak's transplanted Dartmouth coaching staff at Army still has "Dartmouth" plates on their automobiles after two months at West Point.... Some of the cadets are wondering if fifth columnists have moved in.

Stork Heavily Laiden
Pro football's new commissioner May find he will be wishin' or Tryin' to learn what it's all about. For it doesn't seem quite rational in a league that's called national To fire its prey with a backhand clout.

But for now there's no debatin' And there is no joy in Dayton For mighty Elmer Layden has Storked out.

Baseball Buzziness
Manager Bill McKeehanie of the Reds says John Vander Meer will be better than he ever was if he wins a couple of games and gets up confidence again.... Dick Bartell, the Detroit shortstopper, has obtained a movie of that disputed play in the final world series game to show friends he wasn't the goat.

Chicago writers covering the White Sox at Pasadena, Calif., turned down bids to every public function except one dinner given the entire entourage by the Junior C. of C.... Fans in Little Rock, Ark., booed Catcher Ken Silvestri of the Yanks yesterday because Hometown boy Bill Dickey, wasn't used against the Travelers.

Today's Guest Star
Lew Brown, New York Journal-American: "In speculation about the Dodgers' pennant chances we note the word 'if' appears in front of Casey, Hamlin, Coscarart, Owen and Durocher more often than their first names."

New Kenyon Coach

COACH RUDY KUTLER

President Gordon Keith Chalmers of Kenyon college announced today that Dwight L. Hafeli has resigned as head football and basketball coach. His resignation is to take effect June 1, 1941. He resigned to accept a partnership in a company manufacturing junior sports-wear in St. Louis, Missouri. Athletic Director Rudolph J. Kutler has been named head football coach for the year 1941. Kutler is a graduate of Ohio State university where he played guard on the football team in 1922, 23, and 24. He has been director of athletics at Kenyon since 1928.

Cleaning the Cuff
Pat Valentino, who knooped Bob Nestell at the Garden last night, is billed as a cousin of Rudy, the late matinee and night movie idol.... Betty Atkinson, blonde skating star of "It Happens On Ice," proposes an "Olympics for professionals" covering all the usual sports.... Including ice skating for her, of course.... One of the many guesses on why Princeton abandoned its invitation track classic was for a sly slap at Asa Bushnell, who initiated it over opposition of many old Tigers.... They're still running ski trains for Boston's die-hard snow-birds.

FELLER, AL MILNAR AND JIM BAGBY TO HURL FIRST THREE

Peckinpugh Assigns Star Trio To Get Tribe Off To Good Start

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 5.—Bob Feller, Al Milnar and Jim Bagby in that order—will be Cleveland Indians' hurlers in the first three games of the regular season, if Manager Roger Peckinpugh's present plans work out. Here for games with Knoxville today and tomorrow, after rain washed out the scheduled contest with the Giants at Anderson, S. C., yesterday, Peckinpugh disclosed he plans to start Feller Monday at Johnson City, Tenn., against the Giants work him again next Friday in Richmond, Va., and then let him rest up for the season opener April 15 in Cleveland. Against the Chicago White Sox. Southpaw Al Milnar is scheduled to pitch the second game of the regular season after assignments against the Giants next Tuesday at Pulaski, Va., and next Saturday at the Polo grounds. Bagby takes his turn today against the Giants next Wednesday in Bluefield, W. Va., and in New York a week from tomorrow.

BANK ASSETS HIT FIVE-MILLION MARK

First National's Quarterly Statement Reveals Record Gain

Another milestone has been reached in the history of the First National bank of Salem.

The quarterly statement, appearing in this paper today, shows total assets of more than five million dollars. This is the first time any Salem bank has reached this figure.

Chartered in 1853 as the 43rd national bank in the United States, the Salem bank has enjoyed a steady and consistent growth. In the Feb. 23, 1912, issue of The News this item appeared:

"First National Bank Exceeds Million Mark For the first time in the history of Salem the assets of a local banking institution have reached the million dollar mark."

In the ensuing 29 years since 1912 this bank has steadily expanded until today it has passed the five million dollar mark. During the depression year of 1933 the bank's statement of June 30 showed total assets of $2,717,645.26, which represented the lowest point of depression. In less than eight years assets have increased $2,300,000, almost double the total in 1933.

The bank's statement of Sept. 28, 1938, showed assets of four million dollars. This indicates that the last million dollars of assets have been added during the last two and a half years.

In the published statement of February, 1912, the bank's capital was listed at $100,000, its surplus at $100,000. Today the capital is $150,000 and the surplus $500,000, with undivided profits and reserves of $154,000.

Six motorists were arrested yesterday by the Salem state highway patrol.

Michael Miller and William Corso of Salem were fined $10 and costs each after pleading guilty to charges of unsafe operation and speeding, respectively, before Mayor Norman Phillips here.

Franklin R. Theriault of Alliance, also charged with speeding, drew a fine of $10 and costs here.

Emmett Donaldson of R. D. 2, Youngstown, charged with driving an overweight truck, was fined $25 and costs by Justice M. K. Zimmerman at Lisbon. Frank L. Allen of East Palestine, charged with driving a car with insufficient brakes, was fined $10 and costs in Zimmerman's court.

Roy Mace of Cleveland, arrested on a charge of unsafe operation, was fined $10 and costs by Justice S. S. Weaver at Columbiana.

Protests Scrap Prices

CLEVELAND, April 5.—A protest of government-fixed maximum prices for iron and steel scrap has been telegraphed to Washington by W. W. Rose, executive vice president of the Gray Iron Founders association. Rose asserted that foundries in many cities would be crippled as the limitations "will operate to divert scrap from the usual to more advantageous markets."

A Strike!

INDIANAPOLIS — "Where are you going in such a hurry?" Municipal Judge John L. McNelis asked Rita Johns, 23, charged with speeding 40 miles an hour.

"Bowling," she said.

"You must enjoy bowling," he said. "What is the highest score you ever rolled?"

"Two hundred and sixty-six."

"Not guilty."

Will Build Tool Plant

CINCINNATI, April 5.—A 120,000-square-foot plant will be built by the King Machine Tool Co. this summer to produce material for the U. S. Navy. Arthur Lowell, manager of the real estate firm through which the site was acquired, announced yesterday. The plant will employ about 300 men and will begin operations by October, he said.

Hire Wage Expert

YUGOSLAV'S ZERO HOUR APPROACHES

said that, in addition to German and Italian frontiers, the troop-lined borders with Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria had been sealed. (Albania, Fascist territory where Italians and Greeks are fighting, was not mentioned specifically).

The most likely explosion point apparently was the Hungarian-Yugoslav frontier, where Adolf Hitler has massed huge Nazi forces.

With Yugoslavia virtually encircled by the Axis and Axis satellites, only her border with friendly Greece on the south and the Adriatic coast on the west remained open.

Morning newspapers, meanwhile, published a royal decree calling 1-600,000 Yugoslavs to arms and thousands of fighting men rushed to the kingdom's frontiers as British travelers reaching here from Budapest said Nazi troops were pouring through Hungary toward the border facing Yugoslavia.

Fears that war might come "at any hour now" were based, informed observers said, on the swift flow of developments, including King Peter's proclamation and the ministers' refusal to discuss events which prompted the cabinet session.

Stole Plane Plans?

Joseph Dutar de Benque

Charged with stealing 1,500 blue prints of pumps for American fighting planes, Joseph Dutar de Benque, a 64-year-old French alien, has been arrested by New York City police on a charge of grand larceny.

Blames Communism

I. A. Capizzi, Ford attorney, fled to Washington for a hearing today before the national labor relations board on a UAW petition for a bargaining agency election at River Rouge and the Ford Lincoln plant in Detroit. He said he would offer evidence of Communist activities in the Ford disputes. It also was reported that Capizzi would confer with Secretary of War Stimson.

In New York, Richard Frankenstein, an organization director of the UAW, said the issue of Communism in the Ford strike was "a lot of hooey."

James F. Dewey, federal mediator, predicted the Ford strike would be settled in April.

In the "Big Steel" controversy it was reported that CIO and management were far apart on four major points—wages, paid vacations, dues collection and exclusive bargaining recognition for the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee.

RESUME LEETONIA SLAG OPERATIONS

LEETONIA, April 5.—Resuming operations after having been away from the site for 11 years, the Standard Slag Co. of Youngstown, is again taking out and crushing slag from the Cherry Valley Iron Works slag pile at the northeastern edge of Leetonia.

Closing down production here in 1930, the company allowed the machinery to stand idle until 1935 when the plant was dismantled and the equipment taken away.

With the demand for slag rising during the first part of this year, portable equipment has been moved to the plant. Production at present is between 300 and 500 tons of crushed slag per day.

Operations are under the supervision of James Lubree.

Lubree estimated that during the peak of production, the company removed about 60,000 tons of slag per year.

Closes Fire House

AKRON, April 5.—When the only piece of apparatus at fire house No. 6 broke down, Mayor Lee D. Schroy ordered the station closed. A city budget adopted last week ignored a request for $63,000 to buy and repair equipment.
